New site selection
Work with our knowledgeable team to select a strategic site for your rail-served facility. Prime sites are available across the INRD system. Indianapolis Metro, Bloomington, Terre Haute and eastern Illinois.

New or expanded rail service
Whether you're establishing new rail service or expanding existing service, our industrial development team can help mitigate barriers to entry with customized project strategies.

Transportation options
With multiple North American rail connections, including major intermodal ports, plus regional reloaded and transload facilities, INRD gives you flexible options for your logistics solutions.

Improving infrastructure
Ask our team about engineering consultation to assess your existing or planned infrastructure for optimal rail operations. We'll help you get started on the right path toward safe, reliable rail service for your facility.
